INFLAMMATION OF STOMACH

Causes Death of Mrs. Maloney Near Bainbridge.

Mrs. Viney Maloney, wife of William Maloney, L. C. tie contractor from Eddyville, died last Thursday night near Bainbridge, after an illness of several weeks, of inflammation of the stomach and bowels.

Mr. Maloney had been engaged for some weeks with a large force of hands getting out cross-ties for the railroad company and had temporarily moved his family to the Bainbridge neighborhood.

His wife soon became ill and gradually grew worse until relieved by death.

The remains were shipped to Kut-tawa Saturday and interred near that place.

A number of Commonwealth cases have been continued until the spring term and the docket is pretty well up. Only minor cases have been claiming the attention of court during the past few days and the session will likely close tomorrow.

The case of John Wilson, charged with murder, will come up to-day on a motion for bail.

William Nance, malicious shooting, dismissed.

Will Blair, convicted of house-breaking and given two years, has been granted a new trial.

FIVE BIG MEETINGS.

Hundreds of Democrats Turn Out to Hear Speeches.

Saturday Night a Quintet Of Rallies Are Held.

The Democratic orators are warming up to their work as the campaign draws to a close. On last Saturday night five big rallies were held and all of them were largely attended.

The largest was at Lafayette, where four speakers entertained a crowd of 1,500 people. The band boys having returned from the whirlwind campaign were on hand to make music. The speakers were A. D. Moore, of Princeton; Judge Thos. P. Cook and Senator R. C. Renshaw. The crowd was an enthusiastic one and Lafayette is ready for the voting.

C. B. and F. I. Fraser, Rev. J. F. King, J. S. Ragsdale, E. R. Bogard, Edwin Garner and Walter Garner were the leaders in preparing the rally. Mr. Jas. B. Allensworth presided, and introduced the speakers. There were several floats and a parade from Bennetts-town to Lafayette, with banners and torches. An increased Democratic majority will be returned from this district.

Mr. W. R. Howell addressed a crowd of 400 at Pembroke and here too was found a degree of enthusiasm, unanimity and determination never before equaled. The Pembroke Democrats were stirred up by Mr. Howell's eloquence as they have never been stirred before and every man will do his duty.

Mr. J. T. Hanbery filled his appointment at Bluff Spring and his crowd was all that could have been asked. He found much evidence of the good work done by the band wagon campaign. This precinct gave Bryan 28 majority in 1896. This time it will not be less than 40.

Judge Geo. F. Campbell spoke at Fairview to a crowd from both Christian and Todd and his audience was large and appreciative. The meeting was a fine one.

At Laytonsville, only a few miles from Fairview, Mr. J. C. Duffy, addressed a crowd that overflowed the school house. A strong club has been formed in this part of Perry's district and the Democrats are in a fine shape.

MUST SERVE TIME.

Lower Court Affirmed in Grand Larceny Cases.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Christian Circuit Court in the cases of Henry Slaughter, Wiley Johnson, Buss Redford and Frank Rivers, all colored, convicted of grand larceny at the February term of court and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years each. When the cases were appealed sentence was suspended pending the decision and the prisoners have since been in jail. They will be taken to Eddyville this week to serve out their time. The quartet were convicted of stealing tobacco from Longview farmers, it will be remembered, and the trial of the cases consumed nearly a week of the Spring term.

NEW CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Being Largely Increased by Series of Meetings.

There have been a large number of additions to Faison Hill colored Baptist church as a result of the series of meetings now in progress. The meeting is being conducted by Rev. J. L. Allenworth, the pastor, assisted by Rev. B. Boyd, and will continue about two weeks longer. The baptizing will take place the second Sunday in November.

Eozema

Now it reddens the skin, itches, cures, dries and scales!Some people call it better, milk crust or salt rheum.The suffering from it is sometimes incessant; local applications are resorted to—they irritate, but cannot cure.
It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Kod's Sarsaparilla

positively removes them, has rapidly and permanently cured the worst cases, and

Senator Scott at the Roosevelt dinner in New York Burchardized his party in the following language:
"We have oil in abundance. Right here I want to say I believe in trust; they are a good thing. The Standard Oil Company put in its pipe lines to all the small towns where oil is produced, and if it was not for the Standard Oil Company this prosperity that we have would not be there to-day."An attempt was made to destroy the effects of the bad break by suppressing the remarks, but the reporter refused to let their news be censored.The Mountain Democrats are making the fight of their lives, led by Jas. D. Black, Ben Smith, C. W.

whelming odds. A big slice is sure public life, his salary in that time amounting to something like $200,- came a millionaire.Capt. W. W. Hinds, another republican, of Henderson, has left publicans can ill afford to lose.On the same night that Bryan estimate the number present.

Miss Brown as a Vocalist.

We are in receipt of a San Diego paper giving an account of a Galveston benefit, of which Miss Burdette Brown, formerly of this city, took part. The following extract is taken:"The first purely vocal number on the program was a song entitled the 'Enchantress,' by Miss Burdette Brown. The song was extremely rendered, and it was readily and heartily appreciated by the audience. As an encore Miss Brown sang a pretty little Scotch air, entitled, 'Schoughe Shou, My Bairnie.' At the conclusion of the encore, the singer was the recipient of several large and beautiful bouquets.

ENROUTE TO TENNESSEE

When Overtaken by the Grim Monster Was Traveler.A gentleman from Illinois, enroute to Tennessee, died at Crofton last Thursday night. He had been in bad health for some months, and in company with his brother and members of the latter's family, was making his way to the mountains of Tennessee, when he was overtaken by death. We were unable to learn his name. The remains were placed in a coffin and shipped back to Illinois Friday for burial.

McKinley's Costly War.

The American army in the Philippines is everywhere kept busy with varying success. Detachments of the Twentieth and Twenty-eighth infantry lost six men in a fight near Lucena against a force led by a white man. The Thirty-third infantry and Third Cavalry were defeated near Narvican with a loss of seventeen. Rebels led by David Fagion, a Deserter from the Twenty-fourth infantry, captured a launch with a barge of Merchandise in tow. Gen.
Hall's expedition through the mountains in search of Gen. Cailles was fruitless and once great hardships.
He lost twenty porters by death and sent forty men to hospitals. In North Luzon the insurgents are daily gaining strength by recruits from nearby towns. Ambuscades are frequent.

LEADS LONELY LIFE.

Sultan of Turkey Rarely Leaves
His Palace Grounds.Has the True Moslem Aversion for Europeans—in Constant Fear of Assassination—His Daily Haunts.Abdul Hamid, sultan of Turkey, though strong of frame and tall of muscular vigor, is cursed with an insolent temper which makes him suspicious of everyone and least known of all picturesque and important persons. The pure Ottoman blood which came from his father, Abdul Medjid, is mingled with that of a less sturdy race, for his mother was an Armeno-Arab,
and gave him his brown skin and that unmistakable air of languor and melancholy which is his chief characteristic. This trait has a certain charm for the rare persons who are admitted to his presence. But besides the ambassadors of the different countries few foreigners have ever seen him from a distance, and still fewer have entered the royal presence. No one, not even a humble tradesman who wishes to speak with one of the cooks of the royal kitchen, is permitted to enter the Yildiz grounds without showing a card and answering closely the half-dozen formal questions put to every man who demands admittance.For Europeans, says the Chicago Record, the sultan has the true Moslem aversion. The fits of melancholy that lead to make him distrustful of all human kind usually mean a revival of all hatred for Christians, by whom he well knows that he is judged most harshly. That he appreciates the abilities of Europeans is some respect, however, is shown by the fact that all his coachmen, gardeners and upper servants are chosen from England, France and Italy, while it is well known that the Turkish army and navy and many public institutions count implicitly on the services of the hated foreigners. All these persons are kept at a distance, nevertheless, and the sultan's bodyguard is made up exclusively from his own people.Not long ago famous European risk advertiser some exhibitions in the Pera quarter of the Turkish capital, where most of the foreign residents live. After the first exhibitionTHE SULTAN OF TURKEY.
(Cannot Enjoy Life Because He Is Suspicious of Everybody.)he was summoned before the grand vizier, who forbade further exhibitions already advertised. He obeyed the injunction and was about to leave the city when he was ordered to remain.
Summoned again to the palace he was asked the amount of his yearly income from the province of his profession.
When he stated it he was informed that this sum would be granted him yearly on condition that he remain and live in Constantinople.The sharpshooter agreed, and for while led a lazy, luxurious existence, without inquiring to what he was indebted for his curious situation.
Finally he got tired, and remembering that he had a wife and child in Buda-Pesth took "French leave" of his royal patron, packed up his belongings and started on his journey. Two telegrams reached him before he arrived at the end of his trip, both from the grand vizier, imploring him to return, but he paid no attention to them, ignoring the still more brilliant inducements held out to him. After he had seen his wife, however, he was persuaded to return to Yildiz with his family, and was then told why so much fuss had been made over him. The officials responsible for the safety of the sultan feared that if the risk taker were not convinced his prowess as a shot would attract the "Young Turkey" party to employ him to assassinate their masters. He was told to the contrary what he had done with such nonchalance to the glass balls during his exhibitions.
They preferred to give him permanent quarters in the beautiful Bosphorus palace.Except for a weekly journey to the mosque, Abdul Hamid never leaves the grounds of his palace, where a rigorously exact routine is followed. Black coffee, a walk among the artificial rivers, lakes and mountains of his park, a ride in an automobile or electric launch, and an inspection of his wonderful folihouses make up the morning. The sultan is a good, practical workman, and often spends part of the afternoon with

OPEN REBELLION.

Colored Voters Refuse to Support Republican Party

Two Colored Democratic Clubs Organized With Good Membership at Fairview.

There is said to be an open rebellion among the negroes of the Fairview country and they will refuse to support the Republican party in November. The Fairview Review says:

"Last Tuesday night Hon. Frank Gill, of Elkton, had an appointment to make a Republican speech at the colored people's school house in the neighborhood some two miles southeast of this place. After he had finished he was answered by Grant Williams, (col) of this place, who said that the leading Republicans had used the colored people as their political tools long enough and that the time had now come for them to shake off the yoke of the bosses, and that they were going to do it, and that the white Republicans had been getting the bootie and putting it down in their pockets, knowing the negro would go to the polls and vote all right anyhow, and if they were given anything it was a little mean whisky, and that they were tired of that kind of business, and if there was any pie to be given that the white Republicans got it all, and that the poor negro did not even get a crumb. He was followed by Morgan Christian, another colored man, who spoke along the same line. Gill all the time protesting and telling them that they were acting very foolish.

The colored people then proceeded to organize a free silver club of 17 members, electing Rep Jones, col., president.

Gill took all of their names and left very much crestfallen. There is also a negro free silver club here which has 22 members. G. G. Williams, col., is president.

The Republican leaders in this section are very much exercised over the turn things have taken among the negroes and are busy devising means to get them back in line. This defection among the negroes seems from all we can learn to be general."

GREAT CROWD

Attended Trigg County Stock Show Held at Cadiz.

The Trigg county stock show held at Cadiz last Thursday was largely attended and proved a big success in all respects. The crowd was variously estimated at from three to five thousand, Christian county furnishing a large number.

A number of costly premiums were offered on nearly every product of that county and the awards were satisfactory to all. The baby show was held in the circuit court room and around court square the space was taken up with stock pens. It is not among the improbabilities that the stock show will hereafter be an annual feature in Trigg.

4,000 PEOPLE

Addressed by The Bandwagon Campaigners.

Canvass Wound Up With a Big Rally at The Court House

Friday Night.

The first three days of the Democratic whirlwind campaign were reported from Crofton Thursday night. The two big meetings at Empire and Crofton Wednesday night had been distinct successes, in spite of some attempts of Crofton Republicans to reduce the attendance at that place. Mr. Howell spoke to the Empire miners and then reached Crofton at 8:30 and followed Mr. Duffy, who had been speaking to the Crofton meeting, which was presided over by Mr. W. A. Wilgus.

Thursday morning the campaigners set out bright and early for Pool's Mill, where a stop was made on the way to Lantrip's. Here a crowd of 100 was found and speeches were made by Duffy and Howell. At this point Mr. Dennis R. Perry joined the corps of speakers and Mr. Meacham, who had returned to town and missed the Crofton meeting, again overtook the crowd. Dinner was eaten at 11:30. Mr. J. D. Terry, a former Republican, entertained the speakers and Mrs. D. Pool sent a large pot of coffee to the camp for the picnickers. The party had in the meantime been increased by the arrival of Mr. E. D. Jones and Mr. R. H. Coffey.

Before resuming the journey after dinner, the band played a tune in front of Dr. Pool's house, in return for courtesies Mrs. Pool had shown in her husband's absence, and the vehicles were soon headed for Lantrip's, over a good road. The appointment there was for 1 o'clock and the speaking began only a few minutes late. Miss Katie McDaniel, County Superintendent, was here inspecting the school taught by Prof. Paul Keith, a staunch young Democrat. The crowd of 100 or more was too large for the school house and the meeting was held under the shade trees. The band as usual played several pieces, and also played between the speeches, which were made by Meacham, Perry, Duffy, Dulin and Howell. All were brief and to the point. This was the voting place of a strong Republican precinct that gives 103 majority. The Democratic vote in 1896 was 88 and this year it will exceed 100. The Democrats have 84 members in their club and their full strength is not known, as some Republicans will vote with them. One of these, Mr. Frank Martin, announced at the conclusion of Mr. Howell's speech that he would never vote another Republican ticket, and pinned on a Bryan button.

From Lantrip's to Macedonia, where the night meeting was held, was only five miles and the drive was a pleasant one over a good road. A. B. Edmunds and Phil Gaither joined the party here with Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty hours. Sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If it settles toward the bottom, it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also a convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing kidney trouble, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and exuding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Swamp-Root Co., Elmira, N. Y. a tent and cooking outfit, with Frank Southall as cook. A camp was pitched at Macedonia church. Several of the band boys slept in the tent from choice.

The party now numbered nearly 30 men and 14 horses, but the good people of Lantrip's were equal to the demands upon their hospitable and Democratic and Republican alike met the campaigners a mile from Macedonia and offered them more homes than could be accepted, though all hands ate supper in the camp, hot coffee, eggs and sausage being a part of the menu. The three colored drivers, who were all by this time full of enthusiasm, could with difficulty be persuaded to stay in camp while the big rally was held at night less than a mile away. The meeting was held in Mr. J. N. Murphy's yard and it was a whooper. Some estimates of the crowd were as high as 1,000, but a close calculation showed that there were not fewer than 500 people present, in this sparsely settled Republican stronghold. Mr. Wilgus presided and speeches were made by Meacham on county issues, Perry on State issues, Duffy on imperialism and Howell on trusts and assassination. The meeting lasted from 7 to 9:30, the music as usual playing an important part.

Friday morning was ushered in with a drizzling rain and it began to look blue for a pleasant finish. The Hawkins date was for 9 o'clock, but this point was reached ahead of time and as it was still raining the meeting was held in a big tobacco barn belonging to Mr. Blades. All of the preparations had been made by Messrs. Brown, Woosley and other Democrats of the vicinity. The band filled in most of the time until 10 o'clock and the meeting opened with 150 present, a number of ladies. Esq. J. M. P'Pool, one of the oldest men in the county, now 82 years old, drove several miles to attend and a venerable old lady, apparently almost as old, was seen in the crowd.

The four regular speakers occupied the stand in turn and at 11 o'clock the Bandwagons left, dropping Mr. Howell to finish an hour's speech.

Dinner was eaten in Frank Pool's big stable near Consolation, and the schoolhouse was reached at 1:30. School had been turned out for the speaking and about 20 men were present. This point was only a mile from Renshaw's Store and after some music the whole crowd proceeded to the store, where there were about 100 people, mostly Republicans, in waiting. Mr. Rogers, the merchant, gave permission for the meeting to be held in front of his store and a big box was placed in the middle of the road for a platform. It was learned here that two Republican speakers had spoken at Consolation the night before and made statements that the few Democrats in that district wanted answered. Mr. Meacham spoke for 40 minutes on Republican frauds in the county. Mr. Dulin briefly gave his reasons for renouncing McKinley for his record in 1896, and Mr. Howell was left behind to make a set speech, which he did with more than his usual earnestness and force. The Republicans squirmed like eels under big game and withering sarcasm and when he left the Republican leaders were very much wrought up. They heard them to a finish, though, as the "hot stuff" he gave their party glued them to the spot. Some of the Republican leaders recently visited have relatives in East's School House district, in which this store is located, and they were not in a pleasant frame of mind towards the commonwealth attorney.

East's School House, the last stop, was reached at 4 p. m., with the clouds breaking away. About 100 people were here, nearly all Democrats from the Democratic end of the district, and a stop of only 40 minutes was made. Mr. Meacham and Mr. Perry doing the talking. A drive of an hour and a half brought the whole party into town by a little after six o'clock. From Hawkins a night appointment had been made at the Court House and 500 voters were on hand by 7:30 to greet the speakers. After some music, Mr. Meacham gave a 20 minutes report of the "bandwagon campaign" and Mr. Duffy spoke 45 minutes on national politics. Mr. Howell closed with a speech of an hour and a quarter in his best vein.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one. Many republicans were in attendance. The whirlwind campaign covered ten districts. The distance traveled was 80 miles. Including the court house rally, 18 meetings were held in 100 hours and 70 speeches were made. First and last there were about a dozen speakers. The 18 meetings were attended by more than 4,000 people.

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

Makes hot breakfast-breads wholesome—no yeast germs, no alum. Makes cake, biscuit and pastry of superior fineness, flavor and delicacy. Makes food that will keep moist and sweet. Is most economical, because it is the purest and greatest in leavening strength. In the easy, expeditious preparation of the finer cakes and pastries, Royal is indispensable.

Care must be taken to avoid baking powders made from alum. Such powders are sold cheap, because they cost but a few cents per pound. Not only will they spoil the cake, but alum is a corrosive acid, which taken in food means injury to health.

McKinley's Scab Labor.

An Indiana labor leader has developed the fact that when President McKinley remodeled his house at Canton, O., the work was done entirely by scab labor, and that Mr. Bryan employed union workmen exclusively when he repaired his residence at Lincoln.

PRESIDENTIAL AMUSEMENTS.

Thoroughly Typical of the Race—White House Pets.

Even the president of the United States, who ordinarily is one of the hardest-worked men in the country, must play sometimes, or he would not be able to work so much. Every president has his favorite recreation, and as the American president is the chosen representative of a great Anglo-Saxon nation, it is not surprising to find that presidential recreations are thoroughly typical of the race.

That is to say, nearly all the presidents like to hunt and fish and drive horses. Among recent presidents, Gen. Arthur, Gen. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland all sought recreation in hunting and fishing—Mr. Cleveland being the most inveterate fisherman of them all. Mr. McKinley does not spend much time hunting, but he is fond of driving and likes to hold the reins over a spirited team.

Mr. Cleveland did not drive himself. But although he was not especially fond of horses, he delighted in dogs and cats. A Washington correspondent says that the white house was never so full of animal pets as during Mr. Cleveland's administrations. He had several dogs, and so many cats that the rats and mice which had long overrun the white house were almost exterminated.

Now the rats and mice have come back. Mr. McKinley, the same correspondent says, does not like either dogs or cats. There is not a single dog about the white house and only one cat. The cat belongs to a privileged old doorkeeper, who has been in the white house since the days of President Lincoln. The animal is not allowed to roam elsewhere than in the kitchen and laundry.

Some little time ago President McKinley was presented with a noble Russian bloodhound—an animal of a very kindly breed. But the president, feeling that he had no use for the dog, caused it to be crated up carefully and sent back to the donor—Youth's Companion.

REAR ADMIRAL CASEY.

Selected by Navy Department to Take Command of the Pacific Ocean Station.

Rear Admiral Silas Casey, at present commandant at League Island navy yard, will be pleased when he assumes command of the Pacific station on the retirement of Rear Admiral Albert Knott, in the near future. The new billet is one which will please Admiral Casey, particularly if there be any opportunity of fighting. His whole record shows this.

Rear Admiral Casey was born in Illinois and entered the navy academy in 1856. Graduating from that institution in 1860, he was appointed a midshipman in that year and assigned to the Niagara. In 1861 he was promoted to the rank of master, taking part in the engagements with the batteries at Pensacola. In July, 1862, he was made lieutenant and was executive officer of the gunboat Winnebago, taking part in the first attack on Charleston, under Admiral Du Pont. At the attack on Fort Fisher he was executive officer of the Quaker City. In 1865 he was navigator on the Winnebago, and was commissioned lieutenant commander in 1866. In the Korean expedition in 1872 he was executive officer of the Colorado, the flagship, and commanded a battalion of sailors in the assault on Fort McKee.

In June, 1880, he was commissioned commander, and after 15 years of duty in that grade, in which time he commanded the Wyoming, the Quaker City and the receiving ship Dale, he reached the rank of captain in February, 1889.

His experience with the vessels of the new navy was in connection with the fitting out of the Newark, and he was in command of that vessel from February, 1891, to May, 1893, when he received word of about and was detached. His next duty was captain of the receiving ship Vermont, at the Brooklyn navy yard, and there he remained until March, 1897, when he was assigned to the command of the flagship New York, of the North Atlantic squadron. On this duty he remained until made commandant of the League Island navy yard.

A REMARKABLE VILLAGE.

Inhabitants of Ban-Kuene, China, Are All Madmen.

Indo-China has the only village of madmen in the world. This village, which is called Ban-Kuene, is composed of some 300 families, is highly organized as a community, is industrially prosperous and pays yearly a good tribute to France. Yet it has not a single sane inhabitant.

Admission to Ban-Kuene is, it must be confessed, a trying affair. No mere victims of melancholia, or "shattered nerves," or hypochondria or any of the similar ailments so fashionable in the opposite quarter of the world are granted a dwelling place in this most exclusive of towns.

To enter it one must be downright mad—or, as the natives call it, "pipop." The conception of insanity prevailing in this part of the world is not that of a disease, but of a "possession." Therefore, if an inhabitant of this region, as is frequently the case, displays hallucinations or conducts himself in a fashion not consistent with Indo-Chinese etiquette his neighbors take it upon themselves to determine whether any malign spirit possesses him—in other words, whether he is "pipop." This is the way it is done:

The unfortunate person, whether it be man, woman or child, who has fallen under suspicion of "possession" is made the subject of a ceremony on the banks of the river Namgumbe participated in by hundreds of persons gathered together from all the country for miles about. The victim's hands and feet are first bound by the native priest, who is the master of ceremonies.

Absolutely helpless from this time on, the supposed maniac, in spite of his cries and struggles, is cast into the river. It is firmly believed by the natives that supernatural agencies then reveal the victim's true state. If he is genuinely "pipop" he sinks to the bottom of the river and stays there until he is rescued, revived and formally committed to the famous village of madmen. On the other hand, if he is not "possessed" he rises again like an ordinary drowning person to the top of the river, where he is more easily rescued and then set free.

Probably no secret society in the world has so severe or dangerous initiation as this. Yet so conscientiously is it performed and so carefully are the half-drowned victims watched and rescued that the immersion, it is said, never proves fatal. Nor has the justice of the performance ever been questioned.

So generally topsy-turvy are the conditions in the Laos, that portion of Indo-China through which the Namgumbe river flows, that only a knowledge of mania lies in any sort of social relation with each other. The majority of the people live a solitary life, dwelling at the most in groups of two and threes.

Ban-Kuene, with its 300 families, is, therefore, the most densely populated spot in the country. Its inhabitants cultivate to their hearts' delight the idiosyncrasies which have served to commit them. They not only live peaceably, but fall in love, marry and have children, who in most cases are even more eccentric than their parents. Nobody ever recovers or is "discharged." They remain "pipop" to the end of their days—Philadelphia Times.

Catching Ostriches.

In Patagonia ostriches are not bred as at the Cape of Good Hope, but run wild and are being gradually exterminated. The Indians chase them on horseback and catch them with bolas—two heavy balls upon the end of a rope woven of leather strings. Grasping one ball in the hand, they gallop after the ostrich, and whirling the other ball around their head, like a coil of lasso, they let go when near enough to the bird, and the two balls, still revolving in the air, if skillfully directed, will wind around the long legs of the ostrich and send him turning somersaults upon the land.

Early Election Custom.

In the early years of the political history of this country it was customary to choose as the president the candidate getting the highest number of electoral votes and to make the candidate (usually of the opposite party) who got the second largest number of votes vice president. This plan was adhered to until 1804, when the present system of popular votes for presidential electors was inaugurated.

INFLEXIBILITY OF THE LAW.

Sometimes Falls to Meet Emergencies of Railway Operation.

The inflexibility of the law to always meet the emergencies of railway operation is well illustrated by an occurrence reported from the vicinity of Indianapolis. A man who had a house to move obtained a permit to take it across a railway track during the night. Instead of waiting for the appointed time, however, he started to move the building in the afternoon, and, upon being notified, the railway company secured a restraining order from the court. The officer who went to serve the order found the building upon the track. Nevertheless the order was served, and the men engaged in moving the building obeyed the court and left the house standing upon the track. The railway company was notified again, and this time secured from the court a mandamus ordering the building taken away, whereat the movers of the building became frightened, and they also sought legal assistance. Being advised by their attorneys not to attempt the removal of the building until the restraining order had been dissolved, the building stood upon the track for an inconvenient period, traffic meantime being transferred from one train to another around the building. It seems that a force of wreckers sent by the railway company to remove the obstruction were prevented from doing it violently, by the owners of the building, with the aid of friends. Truly, concludes the Law Review, the machinery of the law and other kinds of machinery are sometimes run to cross purposes.

HIS RUSE DIDN'T WORK.

Much-Annoyed Husband Failed to Fight on His Wife Out of a Bad Habit.

"I don't think I'll try any more practical jokes on my wife. They don't turn out well."

"You see, she likes the window in our bedroom open every night. As I usually go to bed last, she depends on me to open it. Frequently she wakes up in the night and asks me to see if it is open. If I don't she nags at me until morning."

"One night I resolved to give her a scare. I rolled a lot of newspapers into a bundle and laid them down by the window. Then I crept into bed. Some time after midnight she nudged me and said: 'Jim, I'm sure you didn't open that window; the room's like an oven. Get up and see.'"

"So I got up, went to the window, and hung my bundle down to the walk below. It shook with a dull thud, and I heard her exclaim: 'I awaked developed!'"

"I couldn't see my wife, but at least she said: 'Poor old Jim, he's humiliated out of the window in his suggested neighborhood. What a spectacle he'll be when they find him!'" She was about to do so, and I nudged her back.

The amateur detective is as humorous a character as any of Shakespeare's clowns, or even old Dogberry himself. He is the most astonishing creature in the world, and generally follows them until he brings them up about as far away from the solution of the mystery as mortal may be. But the amateur detective is a man who reads clues, the indicators of a trail. Every step he takes is a step to success.

It's much the same way in the detection of disease. While the amateur is blundering along over misleading symptoms, the specialist goes right to the real cause and puts an arresting hand upon the disease. It is in such a way that Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., succeeds in hunting out and arresting diseases, where the less experienced practitioners fail. More than thirty years of special study and experience have enabled Dr. Pierce to read symptoms as easily and as truly as the specialist reads a trail which is without a hint for a less acute vision than his. Any sick person can consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. Each letter is read in private and answered in private. Its contents are held as strictly confidential as a medical skill and the reply is sent sealed in a perfectly plain envelope. There may be no third party to the correspondence. Thousands have taken the first step to better health by writing to Dr. Pierce. No writer ever regretted writing. Ninety-eight in every hundred treated have been positively cured. If you are afflicted with any old obstinate ailment write to-day, you will be one day nearer health. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Charles Russell, of Pembroke, son of Mr. George Russell of this city, and Miss Bennie Wood, the pretty daughter of Mr. B. F. Wood, alias of Pembroke, eloped to Tennessee last Thursday and were married by Rev. L. N. Montgomery, of Clarksville. The Pembroke Journal gives the following account of the elopement:

The bride left home early in the morning, saying she intended spending the day with a friend on South Main street. However, before she had reached the home of her friend she was joined by Mr. Russell and they drove to Ringgold, Tenn., where they were met by T. Rawlins and a minister from Clarksville, and the nuptial knot was tied at once. The groom has been a citizen of Pembroke for several years, and is well and favorably known to every one in this section. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Wood, and is one of the city's brightest and most beautiful young ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Russell are now at home to their many friends at the residence of R. S. McGehee.

An asylum patient named Dority, sent here from Butler county for treatment some time ago, made a second attempt to end his life one day last week.

Dority was occupying a ward on the third floor of the asylum.

He was sitting at a window. He then jumped to the ground, a distance of about forty feet. One leg was fractured and his nose and one rib were broken. He was otherwise injured by the fall, but it is thought that he will recover. Dority is about fifty years and claims to be a relative of fugitive W. S. Taylor.

VERY STRONG.Is The Religious Element of Play, "Quo Vadis,"

Hundreds of local readers of Sienkiewicz' novel, "Quo Vadis," will find interest in Chas. W. Chas's dramatization of it, which will be given at Holland's Opera House on Nov. 12. Report says that it has been playing to crowded houses everywhere, as it will doubtless do here. The cast is said to be very strong and the entire production a lavish and in many respects a beautiful example of scenic stagecraft. The religious element of the play is very strong, and the clergy of all denominations are said to have placed their marks of approval upon this play, pronouncing it a great instrument of good, which should be listened to by all classes.

W. T. COOPER & CO.Wholesale & Retail*GROCERIES!*Opp. Court House.*GORGEOUS DISPLAY*But Crowd Not What It Should Have Been.

On the occasion of the fireworks display last Thursday night was not what it should have been. Only about three hundred tickets were sold, but several hundred people viewed the magnificent display from points outside the grounds. In many respects the program was much better than the one given during the Elks Fair. Mr. John Due personally supervised the display which was a gorgeous pyrotechnic production. The display of large portraits of Bryan and McKinley with silver rockets and sprays surrounding the former and gold the latter deserved special mention, while the set figures of "Mother Goose," "The Cow Jumping Over the Moon," and several other characters were enjoyed immensely by the little folks. The entertainment was an artistic success and deserved a much more liberal patronage than was given.
